

DEMOCRATS IN KINGS FOR NOMINATIONS.

John C. Sheehan and Bernard J. York Confer on the Situation, but Will Not Tell Whom They Favor for Places on the Slate.

Kings County Wants the Comptrollership if New York Gets the Mayor, and Candidates Are Springing Up in Every Direction.

Since Republican Splits Make Democratic Victory Probable, a Hard Fight Is Likely Between Hayes, Creamer, Haggerty, Straub and Others for Sheriff and Register.

Kings County Democratic politicians were speculating yesterday as to what happened at a conference held the previous day between John C. Sheehan, the Tammany Hall leader, and Chairman Bernard J. York, of the Kings County Democratic Committee.

After the State Committee meeting at the Hoffman House, Messrs. Sheehan and York disappeared together. Mr. Sheehan went to the Pequot Club, that he had left the city for Long Branch on the 3:30 train. Instead, however, he and Mr. York passed the remainder of the afternoon together, and in the evening dined at the Holland House. Other members of the party were James J. Martin and S. S. Taylor, of Elmira, who has just become a member of the State Committee.

The Kings County men say that Messrs. Sheehan and York seriously discussed the Mayorship, Comptrollership and the Presidency of the Municipal Council, and that York told Sheehan that all the candidates mentioned for Mayor were Charles A. Dayton and Charles H. Knox.

York also informed Mr. Sheehan that the Kings County people would insist that if New York named the Mayor, Kings must be prepared to suggest names just yet. He promised, however, that if the county nomination were settled very quickly he would have several names to submit for Comptroller and President of the Council.

Since the Republican battle in Kings County has become so bitter that the party's defeat is apparently certain Democratic candidates for local nominations are coming to the front in force. The contest for the canvass is short, because primaries will be held next Monday, and on the Saturday following there will be the Assembly District convention to name delegates to all local conventions and the Greater New York Convention.

The hardest fight for a nomination is made by Warden Hayes for either the Sheriffship or Register. He is backed by Senator Coffey, Daniel Ryan, ex-County Clerk Deimar and others of the faction, who, while not exactly antagonistic to the leadership of Hugh McLaughlin, are not in great favor in the Wilburghy street auction room.

Mr. McLaughlin has not come out for any office, but he is supposed to favor Frank Creamer, of the Twenty-fourth Ward, for Sheriff. Creamer is a brother of the ex-Coroner, and President of the Parkway Driving Club. He is backed by James Shevlin and John McCarthy, who, with Bernard J. York, are Mr. McLaughlin's most intimate political advisers.

Senator McCarron is urging ex-Justice Haggerty for Sheriff, and until a few days ago it was thought he had the inside track. If some other man should be named for Sheriff, Warden Hayes will try for the nomination for Register. Justice Jacob New is also in the field. He is very popular among the Germans of the Eastern District, and shares with Judge Hurd the honor of being one of the only two Democrats that were elected three years ago, and was defeated by Harmon. He is backed by ex-Register Kane, who preceded Harmon. Kane and Cummings are both from the Sixth Ward, and the point is made by some party men that the candidate for Register should not always be a Sixth Ward man. Mr. Walsh is a member of the State Committee.

John T. Shea, ex-County Treasurer Corwin and Augustus C. Fischer are leaders in the race for the nomination for Treasurer.

October 6 was fixed last night as the date of the formal opening of Seth Low's campaign for Mayor.

After a protracted session the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Union determined to arrange for a great ratification mass meeting at Cooper Union on the night of that date. Mr. Low will then make his public debut in the canvass, and will be the central figure of the meeting, however, both inside and outside the hall.

It was the intention of the Citizens' Union leaders to hold this ratification mass meeting at an earlier date than the one finally fixed. They wished to do this in connection with the early action in nominating their candidate for Mayor, but Mr. Low, in his conference yesterday with Chairman Reynolds, insisted that he could not begin the active work of the campaign until after October 4, the day upon which the Board of Trustees of Columbia University hold their next meeting.

The Executive Committee of the Citizens' Union did other things last night. There was an informal discussion of candidates for the other places on the ticket, and it was determined to name a committee to look up the necessary legal requirements for the nomination of the candidates for the remaining places. Chairman Reynolds, who has been published, was received, but no action taken. The meeting adjourned at 10:30, and the mass meeting announced for the night of October 4, at 8 o'clock, was postponed until Monday afternoon, when it will be resumed at No. 32 Liberty street.

Seth Low announced yesterday that his resignation as president of Columbia University will be submitted on October 4. To this announcement Mr. Low added that he was very busy with the affairs of the university until October 4, and after that, too, perhaps, as his resignation may not be accepted.

Mr. Low's comment was occasioned by the fact that, by the decision to withhold his resignation three weeks longer, President Low will still remain at the head of the university after the Democratic and Republican City conventions are held. Mr. Low's friends say that his announcement is consistent with his pledge to see Columbia in its new home before he retires. Politicians adverse to him say that he is trying to keep his name in the party clear as to whether or not he will be a "unifying force" in the political situation, and that he may retire from the presidency of Columbia in the first week in October.

It is Mr. Low's purpose to set the pace as a campaigner. He has informed himself sufficiently to map out a clearly defined plan of campaign. He has much work on his hands in connection with the members of the Board of Trustees of the university. They look to Mr. Low for the removal of the university from the city.

To this labor, therefore, he will devote his mornings. The day began yesterday. Early in the morning he was on his way to the new college buildings and spent several hours there, returning to the Plaza Hotel at 6 o'clock. From 6 o'clock to 10 o'clock he received callers. This programme will be pursued daily until October 4.

Yesterday it was somewhat interrupted by the death of the morning morning from James R. Reynolds, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Union. Mr. Reynolds, chairman of the Committee on Public Meetings and Speakers, and Charles Stewart Smith.

Mr. Reynolds had called upon Mr. Low, he explained, merely to have a further talk with him about the situation. Mr. Reynolds came to make some arrangements about the appointment and urged that Mr. Low, would consent to speak in the canvass, just as he had done when he ran for Mayor of Brooklyn. But Mr. Low put him off as he did the reporters, without committing himself to anything definite.

It is Mr. Low's purpose to conduct his own campaign. He will listen to the advice of the Citizens' Union leaders and confer with them constantly, but he will be the unit and directing force of his canvass. He not only has confidence in himself as a campaigner, a confidence inspired by his success in the brilliant race which he made for the Mayorship of Brooklyn, but he also enjoys the admiration of politicians of all parties who remember his splendid activity in that field. It will, therefore, be no surprise to find him at the center of the Citizens' Union headquarters.

To a Journal reporter Mr. Low said yesterday: "I am not prepared to say what conclusions my conferences with members of the Citizens' Union have forced upon me. It is not time for me to talk of the municipal fight."

He expressed his gratification upon the endorsement given him by the Brooklyn Republican Committee by saying: "I am glad that I have so many friends in Brooklyn."

PLATT WINS IN RICHMOND.

His Lieutenant Carries Staten Island by a Majority of More Than Two to One.

The Republican primaries held on Staten Island last night resulted in an overwhelming victory for the machine faction, led by Hugh McRoberts, the Platt leader in Richmond County.

The opposition was led by District Attorney George M. Plimley. The contest was for the control of the county convention and the Republican County Committee.

The latest returns gave the McRoberts faction 10,000 votes against 46 for the opposition, with nine districts to be heard from.

The hottest contests were in Castleton and Roseton, where the district in those towns there were challenges on both sides and charges of fraud.

The Democratic County Committee of Richmond County met last night and decided upon September 27 for the county primaries. The county convention will be held October 7.

ANOTHER BOOM FOR LOW

The Club Which Started Him on His Political Career Again at Work for Him.

The Young Republican Club, of Brooklyn—the organization which first boomed Seth Low years ago for Mayor of his home city—again applauded Mr. Low last night and endorsed him for Mayor of Greater New York.

The attendance was larger than at any time since the Schieren-Boody campaign. After Mr. Low became the nominee for Mayor of Brooklyn he resigned from this club, but has always been considered a member in fact. The club also claims the credit for having made Charles A. Schieren Mayor of Brooklyn.

JUMPED AND WAS KILLED.

Department Commander Sands, of the G. A. R., Met a Sudden Death in Jersey City.

Emanuel Sands, State department commander of the G. A. R. of New Jersey, was killed while jumping off a car within a few hours of his home. He was 139 Newark street, Jersey City, last night.

Sands was returning from Newark. When the car approached Newark street, Jersey City, shortly after 12 o'clock, he motioned the conductor, John Woodward, to stop the car. When the car reached the corner it was going at the rate of eight miles an hour. Sands did not wait for it to stop, but leaped off. He fell on his head and fractured his skull. The conductor picked him up and Mr. Sands died in his hands.

The motorman, Irving Buck, and the conductor were locked up. The body of the dead man was taken to his home.

Populace Is Overjoyed.

As soon as the ceremonies in the Alameda were concluded, Diaz returned in his open carriage to the palace. As he drove up the street the populace hailed him with great enthusiasm and showed him bouquets of flowers on him as he passed by.

IT IS JUSTICE W. N. COHEN NOW.

Edward Lauterbach's Law Partner Appointed to Succeed Sedgwick.

HIS FIRST PUBLIC OFFICE.

Appointment Confirms the Journal's Exclusive Story of Lauterbach's Return to Politics.

William N. Cohen, Edward Lauterbach's law partner in the firm of Hoadly, Lauterbach & Johnson, was named yesterday by Governor Black as Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York.

This brilliant young attorney, who is regarded as one of the ablest corporation lawyers in this State, succeeds the late Justice John Sedgwick, who died last Saturday. Mr. Cohen was notified of his appointment late yesterday afternoon, and was the recipient of many hearty congratulations.

Politicians regard the appointment of Mr. Cohen to this high judicial office as a personal compliment to Edward Lauterbach, and as a confirmation of the Journal's exclusive announcement that the former chairman of the Republican County Committee has again entered the political arena.

Mr. Cohen is a member of the Lawyers' Club, Alpha Delta Phi and Harmonic Clubs. While he has never figured conspicuously in political matters, he is a member of the Republican Club of this city, and has taken an active interest in its affairs. He is unmarried and lives at No. 8 West Thirty-first street. He tells all his friends that he is too busy a man to think of matrimony.

"I am deeply sensible of the honor conferred upon me by the Governor," said Mr. Cohen, last night, "and I shall strive to be a worthy successor to the brilliant Justice Sedgwick. I was quavering until today that my name was under consideration for this high office. I can only say that all the ability I possess will be given to a conscientious discharge of every duty which acceptance of the office imposes upon me."

MRS. JOHN C. SHEEHAN ILL

Condition for a Time Was Critical, but She Rallied Later.

Mrs. John C. Sheehan, the wife of the Tammany leader, was taken suddenly ill yesterday forenoon at Long Branch. Her condition for a time was critical. In the afternoon a change came for the better.

Mr. Ludden, of New York, went down on an early train and will remain at the Sheehan cottage over night. Mr. Sheehan received no word of his wife's illness until his arrival on an early train. He was shocked greatly and spent the evening at his wife's bedside. To all callers he sent the word that he could not talk with them until morning.

Boston Follows New York's Lead.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—An association known as the Merchants and Manufacturers' Board of Trade of Boston, was organized at the Parker House this afternoon. It is similar in its objects to the body of the same name in New York, being formed for the purpose of aiding in the enforcement of the Personal Baggage law. These officers were elected: President, John Shepard; Vice-President, James S. Burbank; Treasurer, Otto A. Pheiler, and Secretary, Samuel H. Spring.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 95 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures by going to the very root of the evil—imperfect and improper nutrition. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the appetite keen and assimilation perfect. It drives out the impurities from the blood and fills it with the life-giving elements that build up the body. It is the greatest blood-maker and purifier. When you pump rich, healthy blood into an organ it cannot long remain diseased. This is true of the lungs. New healthy tissue is built up in them and the germs of consumption are driven out. Thousands have testified to their cure by this great remedy. Druggists sell it.

It is better to do Dr. Pierce's mending while the damage is slight.

Constipation is the one, all-embracing disorder that is responsible for many other diseases. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Nothing else is "just as good." A permanent cure.

Constipation $1,000—By Gum!

We will give the thousand to advertise the Gum. Share in it by sending your name, address and one outside wrapper from a box of FLEER'S GUM.

Keeps the Stomach Right. Money ready for paying out on Nov. 10, 1897. FRANK H. FLEER & CO., Philadelphia.

Hood's Pills

Every good thing is copied that establishes its popularity. Have you noticed how one is following the other, putting their "Wants" in the Journal?

Liver, indigestion, bad taste, coated tongue, sick headache, insomnia, etc. Hood's Pills cure constipation and all its results, easily and thoroughly. 25c. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Judge Parker, Democratic Nominee for the Court of Appeals.

ALTHOUGH he has been a judge for many years Alton B. Parker is now only forty-six years old. Born on May 14, 1851, at Cortland, N. Y., he could almost be considered a twin brother of another distinguished "favorite son" of that county, Daniel S. Lamont, late Secretary of War, who was born three months before. Judge Parker and Mr. Lamont have, in fact, been so closely related in the field of Democratic politics that no one could deny their political kinship. Before he was twenty years old Alton Parker had taught school, studied law and gained admission to the Bar. When he was twenty-six years old he was elected Surrogate of Ulster County—the only Democrat elected. In 1883, after having served as Surrogate six years, he was at once re-elected by a majority of 1,400.

Two years later, Governor Hill appointed him as Judge Westbrook's successor, and in 1886 he was elected Supreme Court Judge without opposition. Four years later, the Second Division of the Court of Appeals was organized and Judge Parker was appointed to it by Governor Hill. He was then thirty-eight years old and the youngest man who was ever a member of that court. The Second Division was dissolved in 1892; but Governor Flower, at the request of leading members of the Bar, appointed Judges Parker and Follett members of the general term of the Supreme Court in the First Judicial District.

This arduous and responsible place Judge Parker held until the creation of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, when he resumed the duties of trial terms of his own judicial district. When Justice Barrett became ill in the early part of the present year, Judge Parker was designated by Governor Black to take his place temporarily on the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the First District. This appointment is understood to have been made at the unanimous request of the members of that court.

In 1883 he declined the nomination of Secretary of State. In 1884 he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention. In 1885 he was chairman of the Democratic State Committee and successfully conducted the campaign which resulted in making David B. Hill Governor. In that same year Judge Parker declined the position of Assistant Postmaster-General, and also the nomination for the Lieutenant-Governorship.

his demand for a straight Republican ticket. They told him that they believed the election of Mr. Low would mean the dissolution of the Republican organization in New York.

Mr. Hurler, who helped Platt's allies in Brooklyn to defeat Platt's allies in the election of Mr. Low would mean the dissolution of the Republican organization in New York.

During the morning session of the Congress who were in Washington conferred with the Senator.

Low "Out of the Question."

To all he declared in the most positive terms that Mr. Low's nomination by the Republicans was utterly out of the question. He also told them of the satisfaction he felt over Mr. Worth's defeat.

Within a day or two the Senator will issue a prepared statement on the general situation covering Mr. Low's candidacy, which may possibly contain some interesting references to Worth.

Chairman Quigg read the news from Washington in yesterday's Journal with interest. He also confirmed the announcement of the President's endorsement of the machine. Republican, and naturally will stand by the organization in this State and city.

Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff had a long conference with the Republican chairman at headquarters yesterday. He reported progress in the fight against Low, and declared there would be no compromise. He also talked over the machine slate for greater city and Kings County offices.

Two Leaders Next in Rank to Commander Booth-Tucker Transferred to the European Field.

An interesting farewell meeting was held in Salvation Army Headquarters in West Fourteenth street last night. Orders had come from London on the day before for Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Perry and Major T. C. Marshall to transfer their services to the European field. The services last night were conducted by Mrs. Booth-Tucker. They sail to-morrow.

Lieutenant-Colonel Perry was next in rank to Commander Booth-Tucker and Major Marshall, who has been head of the Army and Navy League, goes to London to assist in the literary work of the organization. Both will be accompanied by their wives.

CADETS CANNOT MEET.

War Department Decides That Football Between West Point and Annapolis Elevens Is Demoralizing.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Secretary of War Alger and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt have considered the question of football among the cadets of West Point and Annapolis and have concluded not to permit the elevens of the two institutions to meet in annual games, as has been proposed. On the representations of Colonel Ernest, Superintendent of the Military Academy, and Captain Cooper, Superintendent of the Naval Academy, that these contests are demoralizing to the cadets and interfere materially with the successful prosecution of their studies, this decision is based. The teams of each academy are permitted to meet all corners on their own grounds, but they are denied the privilege of going elsewhere to play.

The leaders of each of the rival Republican factions of Brooklyn held conferences yesterday and fixed on county candidates for which they will fight in the primaries next Tuesday.

Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff admits that he cannot hope to check the Low sentiment, and he is now concentrating all his efforts to the fight against Worth for control of the county.

Worth is going into the primary fight with as much vigor as he put forth to control the County Committee. The slates of the rival factions, as settled upon yesterday, contain some surprises.

The Platt candidates were determined upon at a conference between Woodruff, Willis, Atterbury, Appleton, Dady, Clark and Roberts. It had been agreed that Willis should be nominated for Register and Atterbury for Sheriff. The latter established his right to the rich plum by holding a big delegation of the Twenty-third Ward together for Platt at the County Committee fight. The ward is the Republican stronghold of the city and it was generally agreed that the claims of the leader could not be ignored. Willis's ambition to be Register is of long standing and he is favored for the place by Platt, because he will be in a stronger position to fight Worth. Trenchard is of the Eastern District and Turnbull of the Ninth Ward.

Roberts is a Seventh Ward man, and was Chairman of the Republican County Committee when Willis controlled the organization.
